

Individuals and businesses that have sustained damages or loss of income as a result of the Deepwater Horizon Oil Spill have the right to seek compensation for their losses. The O'Sullivan Creel Oil Spill Task Force has reviewed the requirements of the BP Claims process, and as you may know, it can be complicated and complex. Our team at O'Sullivan Creel is dedicated to assisting our clients and community with services needed to file claims or lawsuits, while at the same time positioning your business for the potential adverse conditions ahead.

O'Sullivan Creel can help you file an accurate, documented, and thorough claim, increasing your likelihood of a successful payment in a shorter period of time. Since BP's on-line claim submission form is not currently available for general businesses, Our task force has created an Oil Spill Claim Information Packet. The sample documentation includes a claims form and instructions, items to consider in preparing a claim package for submission to BP for damage recovery, suggested cover letter, and additional resources.

The nature of a claim can range from categories including net lost profits/earning capacity, removal and clean up costs, property damages, subsistence loss, and so on. Each claim package should be evaluated prior to submission to ensure all relevant documentation is gathered, and to further expedite the claims process once your claim has been filed. Even if you've already filed the first claim, our team can evaluate your current claim, and adjust the interim claims moving forward.

Our expert team, including Certified Fraud Examiners (CFE's) and the only Accredited Business Valuation (ABV) professional in the Florida panhandle, offers skillful assistance in addressing and presenting complex business, financial, and accounting issues. From lost profit analysis and cash flow projections to damage calculations and business valuations, our professionals provide confidential, quality advice and support.

Your claim will not be reduced by the cost of our services. Our fees will be paid by BP to you in addition to your claim.

Please contact your O'Sullivan Creel customer service representative, call our Oil Spill Task Force at 888-822-5619, or e-mail oilspill@osullivancreel.com to request a copy of the packet and discuss how we can help you through these difficult times.
